

Crouse Community Center's CENTER FOR OUTPATIENT THERAPIES

SPEECH-LANGUAGE PATHOLOGY SERVICES

Speech-Language Pathologists are professionally trained to diagnose and treat communicative disorders. Our therapy teams take a holistic approach to therapy and are continually enhancing their skills through education on the most current treatment modalities. The therapists look at each aspect of communication to help the individual reach his or her maximum potential.

Our Speech-Language Pathologists provide evaluations and treatment for a variety of communication disorders including:

Aphasia

Following a stroke, many patients experience difficulty with communication. They may have difficulty with receptive language skills, such as the ability to comprehend and interpret verbal and written language.

Decreased Cognitive Functioning

Patients with intellectual challenges, brain injury or dementia can benefit from therapy designed to increase and maintain functional communication skills.

Dysphagia

Swallowing disorders may result from brain injuries, strokes and neurological disease processes.

Voice

Therapist develop structured vocal hygiene programs to assist patients with adequate breath support and voice modification.
